TO OUR FRIENDS:

A young woman went to her mother and told her about life and how things were so hard for her. She was tired of fighting and struggling. It didn't seem like it was making any difference.

Her mother took her to the kitchen. She filled three pots with water and placed each on a high fire. In the first she placed carrots, in the second she placed eggs, and in the last she placed ground coffee beans.

After some time, the mother asked her daughter to feel the carrots. She did and noted that they were soft. The mother then asked her to take an egg and break it. After pulling off the shell, she observed the hard boiled egg. Finally the mother asked the daughter to sip some of the water the coffee beans were in. She smiled as she tasted its rich flavor.

Her mother explained that each of these objects had faced the same adversity: boiling water. But each had reacted differently. The carrot went in strong, hard, and unrelenting. However, after being subjected to the boiling water, it became soft and weak. The egg had been fragile. It's thin outer shell had protected the liquid interior, but after sitting through the boiling water, its inside became hardened. The ground coffee beans were unique, however. After they were in the boiling water, they had actually changed the water!

The mother explained that some people are like the carrot that seems strong, but with pain and adversity wilt and lose strength. Others are like the egg that starts out with a malleable heart, but with heat their heart changes into one that is hardened and stiff. But a few people are like the coffee beans that actually change the situation around them by their outlook, attitude, and influence. Which are you?

A woman was trying hard to get the ketchup out of the jar. During her struggle the phone rang so she asked her 4-year-old daughter to answer the phone.. It was the minister calling, 'Mommy can't come to the phone to talk to you right now, She's hitting the bottle.'
