The Promise of the Spirit to the Nations By Ty Nicol

Galatians 3:14 has the promise of the Spirit equated to the blessing promised through Abraham.

In Galatians 3:8, Paul says that the Gospel was preached unto Abraham. Does that mean that the death, burial, and resurrection of Christ was preached to Abraham? What God had in mind when making promises to Abraham was the blessing of forgiveness of sins and eternal life through faith in Abraham's promised seed, Christ (3:16). That is the Gospel. This Gospel also included the promise of the Spirit..

In Galatians 3:1-2 Paul asks the rhetorical question, "Did you Gentile converts receive the Spirit by the works of the Law or by hearing through faith?" Of course, the new believers received it by hearing through faith. Paul is reacting to the criticism of his gospel by illustrating that salvation was promised through faith in Abraham's seed, Christ, and not through deeds performed by observation of Moses' Law. The Spirit is imparted as an act of God's grace in Christ; therefore it is God who was faithful to Abraham in keeping His promise of blessing the nations with the opportunity to become His children, through His Spirit.
